A brief solution-oriented process Systemic Constellations creates the potential for healing Intergenerational traumas and destructive patterns which may manifest in our daily lives as unresolvable health and relationship issues. A dynamic psychotherapeutic approach that connects us to the strengths of our ancestors and healing on the level of the soul.

As Rupert Sheldrake says 'think of the past as pressed up, as it were, against the present, and as potentially present everywhere,' this is the 'field of awareness' for Constellation work. Originally developed by Bert Hellinger systemic work depends on obtaining a view of the totality of the whole.
